VOICE SOLUTIONS

OFF-SITE PBX

A cloud phone system, or hosted PBX as it is otherwise known, has many advantages over traditional on-site phone systems. We understand that to compete in today's world, your business needs to be able to respond rapidly to increases in demand. That is why we have designed our cloud PBX solution with agility in mind.

A hosted telephone solution means your business's phone system is stored in the "cloud" This comes with several advantages including limiting the amount of hardware required at your business premises and enabling your employees to receive calls anywhere in the world.

Hosted PBX Phone Systems use regular internet (data) rather than traditional copper lines to send and receive high-quality calls, meaning that your organisation no longer needs to use Telkom for line rentals or telephone numbers.

We help you to keep costs down if that's a priority for your business. And if you have multiple sites or offices, then you'll straight away benefit from connecting multiple office locations to a single cloud PBX.

- Cost effective solution
- Connecting sites done instantly
- Reduced call rates
- Minimal installation on site
- All traditional PABX services available
- Extensions working across the country using data

VoIP calls use a best-effort technology, which is only as good as your data connection and how well it is managed and is particularly challenged when you are not connected to WiFi.
